50X1-HUM

1. As a result of the reorganization of the Port Administration of Szczecin (Stettin), the repair workshops belonging to the port authorities in Gdnow and the floating inventory have all been placed under one administrative body called the Technical Base of the Port Administration (Techniczna Baza Zarzadu Portu), located in Gdnow in Szczecin at ul. Gdnowa 16. The manager of the Technical Base is Engineer Binkiewicz.
2. The repair workshops employ 322 workers and 42 staff employees in one shift.
3. One of the buildings of the Technical Base is a three-story workshop, 68 by 42 meters, which is located in Gdnow. The mechanical and assembly department is located on the ground floor. This department has the following machinery: 32 lathes, $\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 meters long; some former German machinery, as well as new Czech-imported machinery and some from the Polish firm of Strzelczyk in Chorzow; four milling machines (former German); one grinding machine; one clipping machine; and one slotting machine. The latter two machines are new, of Soviet manufacture. On the first floor is located the locksmiths' shop, electrical department, machine tool store, and construction office. On the second floor is located the carpenters' shop, painters' shop, kitchen, board room, administration and personnel offices.
4. There is a small floating workshop for repairs of motor boats and other small craft belonging to the Port Administration in the canal.
5. All new cranes destined for the port are assembled and mounted by the repair workshops.
